

Can family history be rewritten?

This year in New Jersey, 49,370 people will be diagnosed with cancer. That's a big number, but the fact is, survival rates are better than ever.

We're on the frontlines... with prevention programs; diagnostics; a brand new, comfortable infusion suite; and an expert team led by Michael Kane, M.D., F.A.C.P.

As a member hospital of The Cancer Institute of New Jersey, we offer the most advanced treatments available, right here at home—no need to travel when you're not feeling well.

Family history may be written in stone. But with today's advances, more patients are starting new chapters in their lives.
